TONY BATTLE

Group Chief Information Officer, Jaguar Land Rover

Tony was appointed Group CIO at Jaguar Land Rover in April 2022 to lead the digital transformation; driving the digital vision, strategy and creation of a single digital capability through the amalgamation of the enterprise IT and data & analytics functions.

Prior to JLR, Tony spent 20 years in the energy sector delivering start-ups and transformation in the capacity of CIO and business partner for energy and commodities sectors within Eni and Anglo American, as well as Shell where until March 2022 he was CIO for Shell Energy, B2C and B2B.

Consequently, Tony has worked in every continent and lived in Holland, Italy and the Caribbean; shaping Tony as a global citizen and an evangelist for diversity in people and opportunities. This energy experience has afforded Tony with broad capabilities in engineering, manufacturing and retail.

Prior to joining Jaguar Land Rover, Tony was Group CIO for Shell Energy in the UK and Germany for B2C and B2B, and a member of the board reporting to the CEO, where he was responsible for the full end-to-end digital ecosystem. Prior to this role Tony was Director of Retail Programmes, overseeing the transformation of business services across 25 markets for six billion transactions per year.

Tony is married and has three children. He enjoys tennis, cricket and spending time with friends and family. He is a chartered engineering surveyor and holds a masters in information science.
